Young Leader Receives Support from Cayman National

Anika Conolly, a student at John Gray High School was selected to represent the Cayman Islands at the Summer 2006 Global Young Leaders Conference (GYLC). The conference which was held in Washington DC and New York is a unique leadership development program that brings together outstanding young people from across the globe who have demonstrated leadership potential. Anika was selected as an outstanding individual who possesses strong leadership potential and has achieved academic excellence.

According to Anika, the Global Young Leaders Conference (GYLC) was truly a life-changing experience. "I attended seminars on topics such as Cross-Cultural Communication and Globalisation and my cultural awareness was expanded as I interacted with students from all parts of the world. It was very exciting to visit many of the monuments and to tour the US Capital and to participate in the Global Summit simulation which was held at the United Nations”, said Ms. Conolly. “I wish to express my appreciation to Cayman National for their financial contribution towards the trip, and also thank them for their moral support”.

GYLC is designed to educate, inspire, and motivate students by giving them the opportunity to explore cultural differences first hand, build confidence and enhance decision-making skills in an exciting atmosphere that is challenging and fun, and according to Ormond Williams, President of Cayman National Bank, “the future of the Cayman Islands depend on our youth possessing the necessary leadership skills and exposure to enable them to make a significant contribution to our socio-economic development. We recognized Anika’s potential and were delighted to facilitate her participation in this leadership development program”.
